From Brother Mike. . .

Mike Farmer, Director of Missions

As spring approaches there is probably not a lot of thought about the harvest. Many of us are making plans to plant. But spiritually we are always in a time of harvest. Even here in our association, the number of lost people likely well exceeds the number of Christ followers.

Matthew 9:37-38 reminds us that the harvest is great all around us. Jesus does not tell us to pray for the harvest; He tells us to pray that the Lord would send out workers. When we think about these verses, we often think that means we pray for pastors and missionaries to go out preaching the gospel message.

One other aspect to this is a broader approach. We certainly need preachers and missionaries, but we all need to watch as God sends other believers into many different situations to be messengers of the gospel. The hurting people Jesus could see all around only meant that the need was greater than the ones who would respond to help meet the need.

As we pray for harvesters may we pray for those that God might send into a factory, or a school, or a neighborhood. Every believer should be listening for God's call to go into a specific part of our hurting world ready to minister to hurting people.

May we all be listening for God's assignment!
